the very center of this institution's vision for future. In following B. R. Ambedkar's ideas of 'social democracy', the college has decentralized its functioning by empowering different committees to act according to their priorities for the betterment of this institution. Our vision is to offer a healthy and engaged ambience to teachers, non-teaching staffs, students and all stakeholders to give adequate space to whatever talents we have to flourish and contribute to the overall development. Gour Mahavidyalaya continues to pursue this vision even in the online mode of classes. The institution is quite aware of what the future may bring in higher education, such as hybrid education, use of AI, new curricula and so on, and prepares to make the best of such possible scenarios.
